

LiTE-HAUS seeks three DJs to perform one hour sets and participate in an art project for the annual 48 Stunden Neukölln festival. Participants will receive a € 350 honorarium and equipment and materials will be provided by LiTE-HAUS.

PROJECT: RUHEZEIT

Berlin is known for nightclubs and techno music. However, there are archaic rules about noise, especially on Sundays. Soundproof rooms are a way for DJs to protect neighbors from loud music. But the materials can be ugly gray foam. How can we create an attractive and more inspiring artistic environment? We invite and challenge DJs to go beyond their creative limits. Can a musician also be a visual artist? Our team will help DJs explore their creativity and create a piece of art that is useful.

GOAL: DJs will create decorative and functional acoustic panels for an art exhibition and music performance.

PHASE 1: Workshop

Participants will attend a one day art workshop at LiTE-HAUS to learn simple techniques for painting or decorating acoustic panels. The panels will be pre-made, but a video tutorial will be shared so you can make these yourself if you want to in the future. Artists must deliver the completed panels in early June and we will install them in one of the rooms.

PHASE 2: Performance

Each DJ will be scheduled over the festival weekend to perform a one hour set in the exhibition room. The equipment we have is the DENON SC 5000 plus mixer.

The exhibition will actually begin a week before the official opening of the 48 Stunden Neukölln festival.
