

LiTE-HAUS seeks artists based in Berlin to exhibit artworks in a group show titled "WHISPERED PRAYERS".

We want artworks that reflect the calm, contemplative, and healing aspects of places and spaces of worship. Religion or faith the building represents doesn't matter; we are more interested in the aesthetics of temples, churches, mosques and how they encourage "quiet". We also want to see images of spaces in homes or gardens that are set aside for meditation or worship, even for those who don't practice any religion. The destruction of places of worship are also of interest, such as images of before/after in areas of conflict. If your work is more abstract, but imparts a feeling of meditation or has features that depict some of the elements found in places of worship, this is also acceptable. Go beyond the boundaries of what most people think prayerful environments are. This exhibition will be in one of our three rooms.

This exhibition will run through the annual 48 Stunden Neukölln Festival.
